Description

When in this mode and dragging a download (at least in link grabber), I can't seem to drop it near another single download without it adding itself to that package instead of just moving it's package (although hidden) to the new location.

I had a mix of single links and visible packages in link grabber and clicked Start Downloads, and only the packages moved to Downloads. Clicking it again still didn't bring over the single links. I had to select them all and use the contextual menu instead.
